Common Sense Operation of Cars Asked by Officials

Police Chief and Sheriff
Join in Asking
Motorists to Save Lives

As traffic through Kingston and Ulster county increased Friday evening with thousands of motorists heading for Labor Day outings in the Catskills and Adirondacks, Chief of Police Raymond Van Buren and Sheriff George C. Smith joined in urging motorists to prevent accidents and save lives by careful driving.

Looking beyond the holiday to the first week of school, the two officials also pleaded for cooperation of motorists, schools and parents in promoting traffic safety for children.

"If figures prepared by safety authorities are correct, many people will die needlessly of traffic accidents over the Labor Day week-end through sheer negligence," Sheriff Smith said.

"Most of these accidents can be prevented by the use of common sense and careful driving. Cooperation with traffic officers and observance of the law can cut down the death list," he added.

Predict 280 Deaths

The National Safety Council has predicted a probable death toll of 280 in traffic accidents across the nation from Friday night to midweek Monday.

When the week-end is over, and children head back to school, it is urged by Chief Van Buren that parents discuss traffic safety with their children.

"Child safety is being given special attention all over New York state during the month of September. Accident prevention for children is probably the most important during the back-to-school period. Youngsters emerging from sheltered summer play spots pay little heed to highway hazards. They must be reminded of the dangers—just as the motorists must be reminded," Chief Van Buren said.

Protect Children

"Parents, teachers and motorists can all help protect children from accidents," he said. "Every thousands of youngsters are killed or injured by automobiles. Last year 4,000 lives were snuffed out in automobile accidents. Thirty-five times that number were injured."

"We must surely do something definite about it. I am certain that the Kingston Police Department, the Ulster County Safety Council and other interested groups will all act to bring this problem to public attention," the chief said.

He also warned bicyclists that if they wish to have the rights of other vehicles on the public highway they must learn to obey the same regulations required of automobile drivers.

"This includes signaling, stopping for red lights, riding single file and moving over for other vehicles to pass," he said.

To the police chief's comments, Sheriff Smith added a word about school buses: "It is highly important at all times that operators of motor vehicles observe fully the law which demands that all motor vehicles come to a complete stop and remain stopped when overtaking a school bus which has stopped to take on or discharge school children. This law requires that traffic both ways come to a stop on approaching a school bus and that the vehicle remain stopped until the school bus resumes its journey or until the driver of such vehicle signals traffic to resume motion."

School buses are designated by red top signal on front and back and are painted a designated yellow as an added precaution. They are marked both front and back as school buses.

Prudent Safety Council

The sheriff singled out for praise the newly formed Ulster County Safety Council, which, he said, by its campaign to make highways safer by acquainting motorists with the law and methods of preventing accidents "is to be highly commended."

"Simple, sane driving by those who operate motor vehicles on the highways and the observance of traffic rules can save the lives of hundreds of persons every year."

Primary Schedule

Tuesday, Sept. 6, is Primary Day in Ulster county.

The various polling places throughout the county will be open from 12 noon until 9 p. m., the Board of Elections has announced.

During the Primary hours, all liquor stores will be closed. The Ulster County Alcoholic Beverage and Control Board announces. The A.B.C. board also reports that grocery stores will not be permitted to sell beer for off-premises consumption during the Primary hours.

Sub Survivors Greeted

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 3 (AP)—A disappointed college boy suitor walked into a downtown office building here yesterday and killed a pretty Dallas secretary after she told him she was to marry another man.

Murder charges were to be filed today against Keith Peterson, 21, of Dallas, junior journalism student at Southern Methodist University, for the pistol slaying of Carolyn Schofield, 20.

Peterson surrendered to officers shortly after the attractive secretary was killed by six pistol shots in the office of Henry Fogel, petroleum engineer, about 4:25 p. m. Officers took a signed statement from the youth.

He met Miss Schofield at a Y.M.C.A. dance on October 30, 1948.

"We have been going together off and on ever since," he said. "We were engaged, but I guess you would not call it formally engaged."

Recently, Miss Schofield would not give him a date, although he telephoned many times. Yesterday afternoon he called her at the office twice.

"The first time, she said she did not want to see him any more. On the second call, Peterson asked if he could see her occasionally. She said she thought it was best that they break off altogether."

"I came to town and went to a hardware store and bought a new pistol for $55," he told officers. "I also bought a box of 50 cartridges."

With the pistol in his pocket and the box under his arm, he went to Carolyn's office in the Southland Life building.

Asked if he intended to kill Miss Schofield, he said, "no."

For half an hour he tried to persuade her to go with him again. She said she was going to marry another man.

Peterson told officers that he fired five more shots, one of which missed, as she lay on the floor.

Sever Red Ties

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Sept. 3 (AP)—Yugoslavia yesterday severed the chief commercial ties binding her to Russia. The government announced through its official news agency, Tanjug, that official Yugoslav-Russian civil aviation and Danube river shipping companies had been dissolved "on the proposal of" Yugoslavia. This latest move in the cold war between the two Communist countries came amid reports that Russia and her Cominform allies had been paid to house and train the current wage of $1.40 an hour.

Rail Policeman Accuses Man of Pulling a Knife

Charles Thiel Charges
Napper Made Threat
as He Took Him
Off Train

A 25-year-old man who allegedly pulled a knife on a railroad policeman was in the Ulster county jail this morning awaiting grand jury action on a second degree assault charge.

State police reported that Charles Thiel, of the New York Central Railroad Police, West Shore Division, about 2 p. m. Friday attempted to remove Eddie Napper, 25, of Willowgrove, Pa., from the West Shore train at Highland. Thiel charged Napper turned on him, kicked him and pulled a fishing knife.

Thiel related to troopers that he subdued his assailant with a blackjack. Napper was then taken to Vassar Brothers Hospital in Poughkeepsie for treatment for lacerations to the head, after which he was delivered into the custody of Troopers Elliot Johnson and Bonny of the Highland Sub-station.

Napper was arraigned before Justice of the Peace William J. Upright of Highland. He waived examination and was ordered held for the grand jury.

Circumstances leading up to the attempt by the railroad policeman to remove Napper from the train were not known at the state police station, nor was the information as to whether it was a passenger or freight train on which Napper was riding, state police said.

Operations Pick Up

Honolulu, Sept. 3 (AP)—Deck operations, without which Hawaii cannot live, picked up on this 126th day of the big longshoremen strike. Operations soon will pick up even more, even though peace talks opening in New York next Wednesday should become bogged. The big employers had ships on the way to Hawaii.

These will be unloaded by non-union stevedores working for the government. They will draw the current wage of $1.40 an hour.

Thousands of dollars to law enforcement agencies.

Carter also mentioned gambler Mickey Cohen and his activities as a matter needing the attention of government income tax experts.

"The only solution to the gangster problem is to go into the income tax angle," said Carter. (This was the method used by the government in moving against Al Capone gang in Chicago.)

District Attorney William Simpson said he has obtained information in the Cohen case from Paul H. Behrmann, former Hollywood actor.

The district attorney said the information is "very concrete but will have to be investigated further and cannot be disclosed at this time." Simpson said he was informed that Behrmann had received longhand notes of some of the conversations taken by police microphones in Cohen's home over a one-year period.

"He refused to tell the source of the longhand notes for fear of his life," Simpson said. "He said to me: 'If I told you, some people would be killed.'"

Students to Come From All Parts of U. S., Other Sectors

A five-week training course for young men and women planning to enter certain phases of health work will be conducted in this city by the National Tuberculosis Association, beginning September 6.

About 30 young people will attend. The students will be drawn from various parts of the United States, Alaska, and Puerto Rico. Ten will come directly from the National Tuberculosis Association and about 20 will be co-sponsored by state or county tuberculosis associations.

On completion of the course, the students will be placed in such positions as executive secretaries and assistants, health education assistants and rehabilitation workers.

Reception Sept. 6

Headquarters for the classes will be the Governor Clinton Hotel, where on Tuesday evening, Sept. 6, a reception will be given to the students by the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Subjects include tuberculosis control, program development, chest X-ray surveys, health education, rehabilitation, business management, statistics, personnel management and Christmas seal management.

Several field trips have been scheduled. These include a visit to the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital, where Dr. Pantolis Frangoulis, acting director, will instruct students in the hospital's operation.

Visits Planned

The group will also visit the Ulster County Health Department offices on Main street, where Dr. Robert H. Broad, health commissioner, will lecture. The Kingston Laboratory and the new tumor clinic building, Dr. J. Sportswood Taylor is constructing. The Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association, Miss Katherine M. Murphy, R.N., and Lawrence C. Byrnes instructing; the Ontario School District in Shandaken, where they will see a school health program in operation, and the Castle Point Veterans Memorial Hospital, where they will see its rehabilitation program in operation.

In addition to the field trips, regular lectures will be scheduled with staff members of the National Tuberculosis Association and outstanding officials of tuberculosis and health associations will instruct.

Gunmen Take $4,000

Off Couple in Elevator

New York, Sept. 3 (AP)—Two gunmen held up a couple in an elevator of a fashionable midtown apartment building early today, an escaped with an estimated $4,000 in cash and jewelry.

Police identified the victims of the holdup as Samuel Levy, owner of a string of trotting race horses, and his wife, Adelaide.

The couple was just entering the lobby of the apartment building where they lived at 400 East 57th street when accosted by one of the gunmen, police said.

They were ordered into an elevator, where another gunman was guarding the elevator operator, and looted of $1,000 in cash and jewelry valued at $3,000.

The gunmen warned the victims against making any outcry, and fled.

Negotiations Resume

Dayton, Ohio, Sept. 3 (AP)—Efforts to settle the week-old strike of 16,000 B. F. Goodrich Co. employees were resumed today.

Sergeant Is Accused Of Betrayal to Japan

Provoo Is Jailed
After Discharge; Linked With Tokyo Rose

New York, Sept. 3 (AP)—Handsome, 33-year-old John David Provoo — just discharged from eight years in the army — was in jail today on charges of betraying his country to Japan during war-time.

An ex-sergeant, Provoo allegedly volunteered his services to Japanese military commanders after his capture on Corregidor in 1942.

Federal authorities said he worked for the war-time enemy for three years as a propagandist, an instructor of American prisoners and in other roles.

His arrest yesterday on a treason warrant, just a few minutes after he had shed his army uniform, apparently surprised him.

"This is the first I've heard of this," he said.

The maximum penalty for treason in time of war is death.

An investigation of Provoo's case has been underway off-and-on ever since the war's end. The F.B.I. launched a new inquiry a year ago.

The tall, dark-haired Provoo, a native of California and a one-time student of Oriental philosophy, allegedly worked with "Tokyo Rose" in broadcasting Japanese propaganda to U. S. troops.

At the time Corregidor fell to Japan he allegedly changed from his U. S. Army uniform to the robes of a Buddhist priest, hoping by this means to curry favor of the Japanese.

Provoo was arraigned yesterday before U. S. Commissioner Edward W. McDonald.

F.B.I. agents permitted him to send a telegram to his father, J. F. Provoo, at Sausalito, Calif., near San Francisco, before taking him to the Federal House of Detention.

U. S. Attorney John F. X. McGohry, and chief assistant, Irving H. Saypol, gave this account of the case:

Studied in Japan

Before the war, Provoo worked in the Federal Reserve Bank in San Francisco, where he had a good record. He made one or more trips to Japan, ostensibly to study the Japanese language and the Buddhist religion.

He entered the army in May, 1941. Sent to the Philippines, he was on Corregidor when the "island" fell to Japan in 1942, marking a major American defeat in that stage of the war.

He presented himself to the Japanese in the vestments of a Buddhist priest. He did not seek to pretend he was a priest, Saypol said, but sought only to show his familiarity with oriental life and language.

After offering his services, he was used by the Japanese to guard other prisoners, and to aid in questioning them, "among other things," Saypol said. The attorney did not elaborate.

After the Philippines fell, he was shipped to Japan, where he allegedly did his propaganda work, and was associated with "Tokyo Rose"—Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino, born in Los Angeles.

Rabies Clinic Change

The Ulster County Health Department announced today that the free rabies vaccination clinic originally scheduled for the A. H. Wicks Hose Co. on September 6 has been changed to the John Gelineau and Son Auto Paint Shop, directly across the street. The change was necessitated due to Primary Day hours. The clinic will be held from 7 to 9 p. m.

Legislators Are Refused Planes

Robeson Followers
To Ask Injunction
Against Vet Parade

Estimate Is 25,000 Will
March in Protest Against Rally of Red Singer

Peekskill, N. Y., Sept. 3 (AP)—Sponsors of a scheduled Sunday concert by Paul Robeson today mapped court action to try to keep demonstrating veterans away from the scene of the performance.

At the same time, all available Westchester county police were alerted against a possible repetition of the force rioting that occurred when the Negro singer was to appear near here last week.

The rioting broke out when anti-Communist veterans groups staged a protest parade outside a picnic grounds in nearby Cortland, where Robeson was to sing.

Frederick Gottlieb, chairman of the county "law and order" committee, said his group will go into Federal Court today to seek an injunction against a planned protest parade at tomorrow's concert.

He said court papers, to be filed by Charles Rothman, a Mahopac, N. Y., attorney, will ask the court to order public officials to require protesting groups to hold their parades somewhere removed from the concert site.

Refuse D.A.'s Advice

Meanwhile, 15 veterans groups planning a protest demonstration at tomorrow's concert, rejected a suggestion by District Attorney George Faneili that they hold their parade elsewhere.

He proposed that the demonstration be held in Peekskill, instead of at the Old Hollow Golf Club grounds four miles north of here where the concert is scheduled.

The veterans groups, after voting down Faneili's suggestion, invited ex-servicemen from other states to join them. They predicted 25,000 will join in the parade.

Robeson supporters predicted 15,000 persons will attend the concert.

Promiscuous Long March

A spokesman for the veterans groups said the parade would start at 11 a. m. (E.S.T.) and last "until we get tired."

The concert is scheduled for 1 p. m. (E.S.T.).

The veterans' parade committee yesterday wired Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, U. S. Attorney General J. Howard McGrath and Faneili asking "unequivocal support" of their demonstration plans.

Vincent Boyle, chairman of the veterans groups, said the parade will consist of members of nine American Legion posts, three Veterans of Foreign War units, and one Catholic War Veterans post and one Jewish War Veterans group.

Firemen Check Two

Minor Blazes Friday

Two minor fires were reported in this city Friday, according to fire department records. At 2:05 p. m. a canvas cover on an oil barrel in the yard of Joseph Ryndak at 74 Henry street was found to be charred and smoking. Firemen were called and extinguished the canvas after removing it from the barrel. They were unable to determine the cause of the smoke.

A paper carton stored at the Colonial Linen Company at 46 Broadway ignited about 7 p. m. and damaged a section of package board and scorched the jacket on nearby hot water tanks, the fire department said. The fire was extinguished by employees, but the fire department was notified later so an inspection could be made. Cause of this fire also remains undetermined.

Typhoon Claimed 111

Tokyo, Sept. 3 (AP)—A typhoon which lashed the Tokyo-Yokohama area Wednesday and sent food waters raging through central Honshu took 111 Japanese lives, National rural police reported today. The compilation, which the police described as final, sealed down the number of dead from 123 reported earlier. However, it raised the total of missing from 51 to 66 and the injured from 419 to 449.

Won't Open Schools

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 3 (AP)—Opening of all schools in the city of Glens Falls has been postponed because of polio. The city school board took the action last night as "precautionary measure." No opening date was set.

US Senators Irked Over Johnson's Rule; May Fight

Washington, Sept. 3 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Johnson's protest against using military aircraft to haul senators around the world brought a we-can-pass-a-law reaction today from Congress.

Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okl.), who first received the pointed suggestion that congressmen ride the regular commercial airlines, told a reporter:

"This may bring this airplane issue to the front. If the military officials can assign planes to anyone they like, then Congress may have to take notice of it and fix the policy."

"Thomas, one of the leaders of an insistent Senate economy bloc, conceded with a wry smile that the drive to slash government spending had apparently boomeranged."

But with most senators away for a long Labor Day week-end, Thomas held his fire. He merely passed along Johnson's blunt comments to other senators who had indicated they had wanted to make a leisurely flying inspection of Europe, with a number going on around the world.

Other senators crumbled privately to reporters that President Truman, Vice President Barkley and other officials of the executive department make frequent flying trips.

Cite Marston Case

They also cited recent public testimony that John Marston, man-of-war-Washington, and Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, the President's army aide, were able to arrange military air transport to Europe for perfume dealers.

But Secretary Johnson was firm, writing Senator Thomas: "For economy reasons, both in aircraft and in dollars, so in this year I have refused to agree to the assignment of special mission aircraft to accompany congressional parties on trips around the world."

Thomas had informed the defense secretary that a number of the 17-member appropriations subcommittee, which handles the armed services' multi-billion dollar money bills, wanted a large military airplane to make the inspection trips of six weeks to two months.

They planned to take a boat to Europe Sept. 21, then tour Europe by military plane, with some of the senators continuing the inspection tour by air to the Middle and Far East, and then fly on to Japan.

But Johnson replied: "I have felt that the services do not have aircraft to spare for trips of this sort, and, also, I have felt that I could not justify placing the armed services in competition with commercial carriers who are engaged in carrying passengers over these same routes."

Senators and Representatives usually like to travel in the large four-engine military planes. Johnson commented:

Costs $130 An Hour

"The air force estimates that it costs $130 an hour to keep a 4-engine aircraft aloft, and that, on a trip of six or seven weeks' duration, the cost to the government for such a special flight can exceed $25,000."

Thomas had supplied the defense secretary with tentative itineraries for the inspecting senators.

But Johnson said a flight via commercial airline from Frankfurt, Germany, to Tokyo costs $867 and even if eight senators decided to fly around the world the "total cost by commercial carriers would be less than $7,000 to Tokyo."

From Tokyo, he said, senators "could return to the United States on our daily scheduled military air transport service," rather than a specially-assigned military plane.

Secretary Johnson declined an invitation to ride along with the inspecting senators.

At first, Thomas indicated, he considered a hot reply. But he settled on a formal note, briefly telling the secretary that he was passing along the information and suggestion to other senators who control the nation's pursestrings.

Thomas said some senators may take their wives along but would meet all their expenses.

McKenney on Bridge

Freak Bridge Hand Misjudged by Many

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

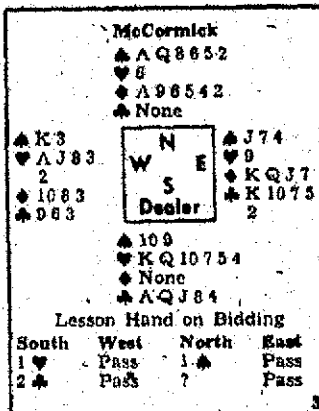

Today's hand came up at the Mayfair Bridge Club and top score on it was won by John McCormick, who is now living in New York.

Everybody agreed that South's first bid should be one heart. West should not double. A double at this point would be an informative double, asking his partner to bid, and West would be happy to have his opponents play the hand at hearts. Therefore, he should pass.

McCormick bid one spade, as did every other North player in the room. There are some players who would like to bid two spades, but holding two six-card suits, North should realize that his partner may have a similar holding, in which case there is absolutely no fit. Therefore, one spade is the correct bid. East should pass. South should bid two clubs.

Now the question is, what should North do? Many players will say that North should bid two diamonds. If he does, South will then bid three clubs. Now

North will bid three diamonds or three spades, and South will take the contract to game in spades. Due to the fact that North has bid diamonds, East will not open a diamond. Probably the "single" ton heart will be opened, and the contract quickly defeated.

Over the two club bid, McCormick at his table signed the hand off with a two spade bid. He said, "I have a rule on these freak hands—lose as little as possible." South passed and the hand was played at two spades.

East opened the king of diamonds and McCormick proceeded to make four spades. He was not disappointed as he received top score, because those who had bid four spades were defeated.

Attic Louvres Help Ventilation

Louvres are slats inserted at an angle in an opening in the wall of a house and are usually placed in the attic. They are overlapped to keep out rain and snow but permit air to circulate freely making the upper rooms more comfortable in hot weather. Louvres which allow free circulation of warm air in Summer will also allow ingress of cold air in Winter, which will chill the rooms of the upper story. To avoid this, the louvres should be closed in Winter by shutters fastened inside. Movable louvres which may be opened or closed at will, also could be used. To keep birds, squirrels, etc. from getting into the attic through the louvres, the openings should be covered with wire netting.

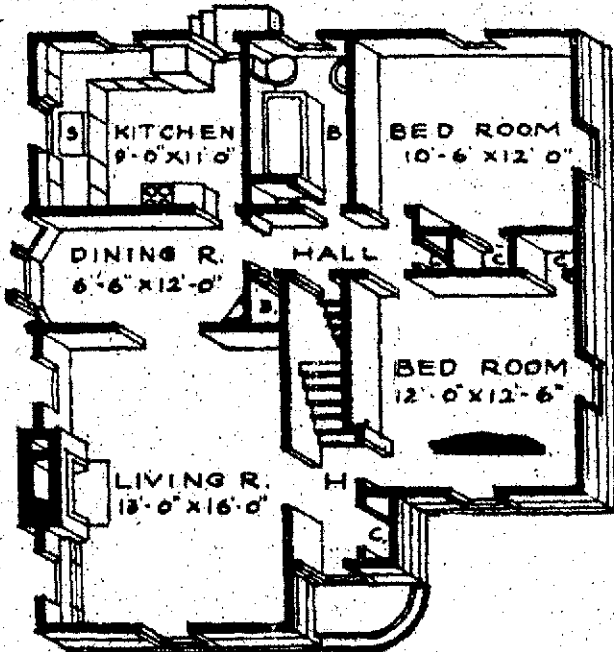

Cut Off Current Before Replacing Blown Fuse

Blown-out fuses may be replaced by the home owner without much trouble. The current should be cut off at the main switch, with care taken not to touch any of the metal parts. Fuses of the same rating as the ones to be replaced should be used. It is dangerous to use any substitutes such as coins or fuses of higher capacity. The capacity of fuses is plainly marked on the metal rim around the face or on the contact end.

The NEW LONDON

There's no waste space in this neat cottage, "The New London," and it will make an economical as well as a comfortable home for a small family. The plan calls for a lot at least 50 feet wide.

Good House Is Combine of Many Important Factors

A good house is a properly related arrangement of good walls, good roof, good windows, and good doors, just as an ugly house is a poor arrangement of these units, it is pointed out.

The simpler the better. The first function of a wall is to keep out weather, and, it is believed the simpler the wall, the better it looks. If the right material has been selected originally, it should hold true for all four walls and should not be varied in different parts of the house without cause.

Ornate Tudor imitations and other homes where a hodge-podge of exterior materials is used frequently give an incongruous effect and are disturbing rather than pleasing.

The longer the roof line, the more peaceful and pleasing the effect, it is said. Badly proportioned attic and dormer windows, irregularities, sharp angles, and a variation of roof colors are factors which tend to spoil the appearance of roofs. Frequently over-sized conspicuous chimneys ruin an otherwise good roof line. Chimneys should be grouped together as far as possible for economy, efficiency, and looks, and again simplicity.

Windows and doors are also important features of a home esthetically as well as functionally. They should be simple in shape and of generous proportions, and a correct relationship between window and wall should exist. Well-designed bay windows add useful space within and attractive form without, but one dominating the main portion of the house is likely to be awkward.

The design of the garage should be purely functional in nature without "false front" decoration.

Animal husbandry and farming are believed to have begun about 10,000 years ago around the eastern end of the Mediterranean.

Every Inch in This Home Useful

Five Rooms and Bath
 Make Ample Home for Average Family

Modern American living demands a small house designed without an inch of waste space.

Each room must be just large enough for the use that will be given it, never too big. Well placed windows, for light and ventilation, and simple travel throughout are requisites. Of course the outside must be attractive.

Just such a house is "The New London," submitted today by the "Home of the Week" Plan Service. In this livable little L-shaped dwelling the rooms are all on one floor: living room, dining room, kitchen, two bedrooms and bath. The exterior has a charming, young dignity. With no attempt at sophistication, it is directly simple and pleasing.

A 50-foot lot will accommodate this house which is designed to present a narrow side to the street. It may have either a full or half basement, as preferred.

In the corner where the living room wing joins the main body of the house is the front entrance. This is given importance by circular brick steps and by its own tiny roof which is a continuation of the main roof. Glass panels in the door light the vestibule. Wide, small-paned windows, with paneled shutters are nicely spaced on the white clapboard (or shingled) surfaces and the heavy end-chimney of brick steps up the color of the brick steps.

Simple But Attractive

The interior is very simply planned, with plenty of closets, including a special linen closet in the bathroom. The dining room is unusual in shape and size. A big bay window completely fills the outside end, flooding the room with light. This long, narrow type of dining room has been found ideal for a small family and lends itself readily to smart decoration.

The stairs to the second floor lead to two fine bedrooms, bath and good size storage space.

Complete plans and specifications for this house, "The New London," the "Home of the Week," are available at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, The Kingston Daily Freeman, and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a three-cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply.

(Released by the "Home of the Week" Plan Service.)

Linoleum Corners

Many home owners tolerate the petty nuisance of linoleum edges turning up at the point where it meets the doorway of the kitchen. This can be eliminated in old linoleum and prevented in laying new linoleum by the use of brass strips manufactured for this purpose.

Remove Snow

One of the first rules is not allow snow and ice to accumulate and harden. If the snow is removed immediately after it ceases to fall, it can prevent accidents and other "headaches."

Common Mistake

One mistake that is common is the pouring of hot water on icy steps and sidewalks. Ice should be dissolved by sprinkling salt liberally on all walking surfaces. In cold weather hot water will eventually turn to ice, too.

Basic Factors First in Home

Home buyers of today are realizing to a greater degree the importance of basic housing quality and are subordinating the influence of mechanical equipment in a residence when purchasing property.

Prior to the advent of the general educational program and property requirements by F.H.A., it was common practice to "load" a house being offered for sale with virtually every kind of mechanical equipment likely to induce a sale on the strength of this equipment alone. Basic factors of plan, construction, sunlight, neighborhood, or similar factors were often not emphasized.

Buyers Have Learned

Today, the prospective home buyer gives first consideration to factors, including the general location or neighborhood, the relation of the house to its site, the provision for natural light and ventilation, the comfort and convenience of the plan, the soundness of the construction and the attractiveness of the design.

The officials do not maintain that adequate time and labor-saving mechanical devices are not requisite in a home, but they do warn prospective home buyers that no amount of equipment can make a satisfactory house where the basic factors are not properly achieved. They point out, moreover, that the mechanical equipment in a home, due to technical advances from time to time, will probably require replacement.

'Automatic Control' For Ceiling Windows

Steel basement windows that open inward and are automatically held open in position at angles of 45 and 90 degrees are now available to the home builder. The 45-degree opening is for ventilation, while the wider opening enables easy cleaning of the outside of the panes. The hold in these positions is easily released. Screens to fit such windows are optional. They are attached to the outside of the metal frame holding the ventilator.

Church Fair Will Feature Carousel, Many Booths, Events

An innovation at the Circus Fair of the Fair Street Reformed Church next Thursday and Friday will be a Merry Go Round. The traveling carousel has proven popular in New York city and throughout the state. It is expected it will be riding capacity crowds for both days of the fair. The fair promises to be the largest and most entertaining ever attempted for the annual event of the church. There will be an array of colorful booths offering everything from candy to quilts and the ever popular refreshment stand will be more extensive in its offerings of frankfurters, sandwiches and other items that make for circus and fair eating pleasure.

The entertainment also is planned on a grander scale. There will be a puppet show both days. Fred Van Deusen with his magic will appear and there will be comedy skits. Real clowns will amuse the youngsters. The T and E Model circus is expected to draw attendance as this scale model circus has proven popular wherever it has shown.

The Men's Club will have the usual games of skill and amusement.

St. Mark's Church Arranges Two Events

The Pastor's Aid Board of St. Mark's A.M.E. Church will sponsor a baby popularity contest Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Prizes will be awarded to the babies having the highest number of votes. Program will be given by the youth of the church.

Monday, Labor Day, a southern style barbecue will be given at Forsyth Park, Lucas Avenue, to which the public is invited.

Baseball Honors

Umpire Klem

Now York, Sept. 3 (AP)—The big town has given Bill Klem, "The Old Arbitrator," a day he'll never forget.

There was a mist in the eyes of the 75-year-old supervisor of National League umpires and tears trickled reluctantly down his cheek as he heard the words of praise from old friends.

"This is the greatest day of my life," he said humbly at a noon luncheon in his honor. "This tribute tells me I made good. That is exactly what I started out to do."

The old ump who claims he "never misses one" came up from his Miami home for the occasion.

After the luncheon, Klem thrilled to a fine reception from 44,248 fans at ceremonies preceding the New York-Brooklyn night game at the Polo Grounds.

Forest Hills, N. Y.—Frankie Parker, Los Angeles, downed Eric Sturges, South Africa, 6-3, 6-6, 6-1, 6-4 to reach quarter finals of tennis nationals. Ted Schroeder, La Crescenta, Calif., Frank Sedgman, Australia, Jaroslav Drobny, Czechoslovakia, and Billy Talbert, New York, also joined round of eight. Louise Brough, Beverly Hills, Calif., and Doris Hart, Jacksonville, Fla., reached semi-finals of women's play.

"We are bring to Kingston one of wrestling's top showmen in the Golden Superman," Johnston said.

"Wrestling fans in Kingston and the area will be getting a look at the best in mat talent this winter. Already tabbed for future shows are The Amazing Argentinian, Rocca, Gene "Mr. America" Stanice, Baron Michelle Leone, the mighty Bull of the Pampas, Wilkes, Canadian and many others of the best calibre now residing in the East."

Johnston pointed out that shows would run every Tuesday night, if the public supports them. He said that this is comparatively new territory and he would make every effort to establish the sport here.

Due mainly to television, wrestling has staged a terrific comeback in the past couple of years. The television shows have created a large wrestling audience, particularly women, and the sport is booming in several parts of the country.

The September 13 show here will be the first big time wrestling for Kingston in more than a decade when the grunts and groans artists appeared unsuccessfully in a few shows.

Each card will consist of three time-limit contests of 30 minutes and the main event which is either one fall or best-two out of three.

Tropical Storm Abates
Miami, Fla., Sept. 3 (AP)—The small tropical storm which claimed seven lives on the tiny island of Barbados apparently has spent its energy and flattened into nothing more serious than a strong easterly wind. The San Juan, Puerto Rico, weather station late last night said the disturbance had lost any resemblance of an "eye" and although it contained strong winds, had none of the characteristics of a regular tropical storm.

Troops Are Called

Canton, Sept. 3 (AP)—A division of Nationalist troops was rushed out today to meet 2,000 to 3,000 Red irregulars who were fighting toward Tsungta, only 35 miles northeast of Canton. The irregulars, armed by the regular Chinese Communist armies farther north, were striking far behind the front lines. This disruptive action had been feared by the Nationalist command.

Charlie McCarthy Image for Grade School Student

A full-dressed image of Charlie McCarthy, the other half of the McCarthy-Bergen radio act, which brought $1,500 at an auction recently, will be given away free Saturday, September 10, to one of the girl students of the Kingston public schools.

The image of young Charlie has been donated by Margaret Wessler of Waban, Mass., as a token of appreciation for the assistance given by local school children in the "Crusade for Children" campaign which was conducted in this city more than a year ago.

The actual cost of the image of Edgar Bergen's famous wooden cartoon was $100. It is garbed in a full dress suit, opera cape, high hat and other accessories. It was made by one of New York's outstanding fashion designers to exacting specifications.

The gift will be presented to the lucky girl at 2 p. m. September 10, during the selection in front of Schneider's Jewelry store, Wall street.

In order for local girls to compete in the selection the following rules must be carried out:

All girls between the ages of 8 and 12 will have their names submitted to their respective principals who in turn will give them to Miss Sara Israel, teacher at School 7.

Miss Israel will affix a number to each name. The selection will be made by Tei Lynn Kotzky. If the holder of the first selection is not present, another number will be selected. The presentation of the image will be made by Chryle Fitzgerald.

The image of Charlie is on display in the window of Schneider's uptown store.

Patient Is Transferred

The Ulster County Health Department reported at noon today that a patient who had been under treatment for polio outside New York state was transferred to Kingston Hospital today. Since the person had been under treatment outside the state, the case will not be included in the total of polio cases reported in the county, health department officials said. The case was reported "not serious."

Must Aid Britain

Topeka, Kas., Sept. 3 (AP)—The United States should look sympathetically toward Great Britain in her financial crisis, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told an audience in his boyhood state last night. "From the standpoint of common interests," he said, "we are very close to the British people. Our self interest inclines us to look to their case sympathetically so they may regain their former position."

Cigarette Is Blamed

Edward Hutton of 57 Newkirk avenue drove his 1940 Chevrolet sedan to the Central Fire Station at 11:09 a. m. today with a fire in the rear seat, the fire department reported. Surprise Strike Gives Car Workers Longer Holiday

Detroit, Sept. 3 (AP)—An unscheduled strike gave more than 7,300 auto workers an early start on their Labor Day holiday weekend.

The men—employees of Plymouth Division of Chrysler Corp. and its supplier, Briggs Manufacturing Co.—were sent home after 163 Plymouth assembly workers failed to return from their lunch period at 8 p. m. Thursday.

C.I.O. United Auto Worker representatives of the strikers said they were protesting the firing of a steward who took part in a brief walkout a day earlier.

Affected by the incident were 3,900 other Plymouth workers and 3,400 employed by Briggs. Both plants were scheduled to shut down at midnight Friday until Tuesday morning.

The walkout came a few hours after the U. A. W. asked the state to conduct a strike vote among nearly 80,000 Chrysler workers in Michigan.

Such a vote would determine whether the members want a walkout called to enforce demands for $100-a-month pensions, welfare benefits and an hourly wage increase.

They declined to talk details.

MacAffer Silent Yet on Nomination

Kenneth S. MacAffer, Albany county Republican chairman, yesterday stated he would "have a statement after Labor Day" as to whether he would accept his party's nomination for the newly created Supreme Court judgeship in the Third Judicial District.

It has been reported in political circles that MacAffer will run as part of an agreement whereby Republican endorsement will be given Supreme Court Justice Francis Bergan of Albany and Justice Harry E. Schirck of Kingston, Democrats, for re-election.

Last year Supreme Court Justice Donald S. Taylor, Republican, was endorsed by the Democrats. Candidates will be named for the judgeship at judicial conventions to be held between September 12 and 16.

MacAffer was an associate of the late Senator Charles W. Walton of this city, being a member of the law firm of Maxwell, Walton, Wood and MacAffer.

Sergeant Is . . .

on trial in San Francisco on a treason charge. She is accused of broadcasting propaganda for the Japs under the name of Tokyo Rose and Organ Ann.

Contrasting the two cases, McGohy said: "Tokyo Rose was used for propaganda purposes, while this fellow is charged with actively aiding the Japanese forces by voluntarily offering his services to the Japanese forces to assist them in the occupation of Corregidor."

The complaint against Prevoo, made by F.B.I. agent George E. Davis, accused him of "unlawfully, wilfully and treasonably" aiding the Japanese enemy between May 6, 1942, until Sept. 2, 1945, when the war ended.

In Tokyo, he lived in a schoolhouse with a group of other collaborationists, Saypol said.

Found As Prisoner

When American forces entered the city, however, Prevoo was found in a prisoner of war camp. Saypol said he had managed to get into the camp after Japan surrendered.

An army investigation after the war ended apparently developed no case against Prevoo, and he was returned to the U. S., where he was honorably discharged in late 1946. Shortly thereafter, he re-enlisted.

He served most of his second hitch at Fort Sil, near Lawton, Okla., and recently was transferred to Fort Meade, Md. Yesterday, he was brought to Governor's Island where he was discharged, and immediately arrested by F.B.I. agents.

The complaint said that while in Tokyo during the war he wrote propaganda scripts for the broadcast Corp. of Japan. The broadcasts allegedly were beamed to the U. S. and to American combat troops.

Labeled His Programs

Radio programs allegedly prepared at least in part by Prevoo bore these titles: "Of Mice and Men," "Bury the Dead," "She Met Napoleon," "Saturday Jamboree," "Ferdinand the Bull," "Johnny Comes Home," "Journey's End," "The Moon and I," and "Between the Lines."

Saypol said Prevoo had rewritten well-known American books and gave hits to the propaganda value for the Japanese.

competed in the contest throughout the six-week eliminations. The second and third prize winners were Sharon Mae Van Gaasbeck, 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Van Gaasbeck of Albany avenue extension and Patricia Ann Prusack, four years and five months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Prusack of 59 Farrelly street.

Sharon Van Gaasbeck was presented with a gift certificate by Charles Knight of the Modern Signs, 680 Broadway, for a crib and mattress.

Patricia Ann Prusack received a certificate for a half-year's dancing lesson at the Cashin School of Dancing.

Each of the mothers whose children competed received a corsage through the courtesy of Valentin Burgevin, Inc., local florists. Other contestants taking part in the finals last night were Judith Ann Munson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Munson, Brabant road; Sallie Curtis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Curtis, R.F.D. 4; Joanne Czerwinski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Czerwinski, Hurley; and John Henry Dittus, 3rd, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dittus, Jr., 42 Clifton avenue.

Judges for the Baby Parade finals were District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, who crowned the winner; Mrs. Caroline M. Seitz, society editor of The Kingston Daily Freeman; and the Misses Ethel and Lillian Carter of Arlington, N. J., former residents, who spend their summers at 14 Reynolds street. The New Jersey judges were picked impartially from the crowd.

Jack Hamilton, manager of the 9W Theatre, acted as master of ceremonies. He was assisted by Gordon Burns, assistant manager of the outdoor theatre; Howard Quick, field manager; and Kenneth Every, operator for the lighting effects.

Of these McCarran, Chavez and Kilgore planned to take their wives. It was uncertain as to which senators intend to make the full around-the-world trip.

Awaits Officer's Review

Washington, Sept. 3 (AP)—Seaman Patrick Joseph Ryan now must "sweat out" a Naval officer's review of his court martial before learning his penalty for missing his ship. He hopes his story that he was "shanghaied" into the French Foreign Legion, and the scars and broken teeth he says he got in that rugged army, will win him leniency.
